KNOW MORE

Build your project management skills and knowledge

PMI offers a variety of learning opportunities for you to gain practical project and people skills to drive project success and advance your career. SeminarsWorld® face-to-face seminars and eSeminarsWorld™ online course go in-depth on a single topic, while e-learning on-demand courses are convenient for professionals with busy schedules.

Build a foundation of knowledge with Applying the Fundamentals of Project Management – a web-based, self-study course where you serve as the project manager of a documentary film. This course provides a fun, interactive way to learn and apply the common language and processes used in project management as outlined in the PMBOK® Guide—Fourth Edition. The course is excellent preparation for the CAPM® certification examination.

Gain insight into the most talked-about topics in project management

PMI provides a range of learning and networking events throughout the year, including PMI® Global Congresses. These multi-day conferences, held in various regions of the world, allow you to customize your learning experience. Select several sessions each day on project-related topics of interest to you, plus enjoy speakers, an exhibition area and networking events.

Discover additional professional development opportunities through PMI Registered Education Providers (R.E.P.s)

A fantastic way to find project management courses on any topic is through PMI's worldwide network of Registered Education Providers. These are organisations approved by PMI to provide project management training based on PMI-established criteria.

Purchase project management books, standards, articles and research

As the world's leading publisher of project management information and knowledge, PMI gives you the informational edge you need to excel. Discover a wealth of books, articles, study guides and more at PMI Marketplace, an exceptional online resource for advancing your knowledge.

Assess your level of knowledge with Project Management Knowledge Assessment

The Project Management Knowledge Assessment is a 100-question, multiple-choice evaluation designed to help you measure your knowledge of project management. No designation or credential is earned for completing it, but it is a way for you to begin mapping your career. Results are provided immediately after completion.
